

ASE Network License Agreement

Educational and Library institutions

Library subscriptions include online access to ASE journals at no extra cost.

Electronic access to subscribed journals may be networked to all physical sites that are legally part of a single educational institution, providing they are in the same country. If you have any queries about library subscriptions, please contact info@ase.org.uk

Institutional Access and User Authentication

This network license entitles all users on a university campus, library, company site or branch to include remote access by members, students or employees of the subscribing institutions. Institutional access to ASE journals is authenticated by Shibboleth user authentication technology or by IP address access.

Your users can access these resources by selecting the 'Shibboleth' login at www.ase.org.uk/user

ASE is part of the UK Federation. This means your users will gain authenticated access if your institution is also part of the federation.

If you are not part of the UK Federation, you need to supply us with the following details in order for us to set up authenticated access. Please note that this may take up to 10 working days.

TOKENS required:

- Entity id
- eduPersonScopedAffiliation

If you opt for IP address access your users should go to www.ase.org.uk/user and it will automatically login you in via your IP and then you need to navigate to ASE journals on the left.

Access will be set up once payment has been received.

Current Subscription Access Only

As a membership organisation and small publisher, ASE does not offer perpetual licenses, but full access as long as you have an active subscription with us.

Access to our current issues and journal archive can only be guaranteed for libraries and institutions that have an 'active' subscription.

When you buy a subscription to the journal, you will have access to all content currently on the database.

Your users will continue to obtain access to the full text PDF for those volumes to which a subscription was held and activated online. HTML full text is not available.

Usage Statistics

Please note that usage statistics are not currently available and this is something that the ASE is investigating though at present the cost of necessary changes to our systems is not feasible.

Copyright Notice

ASE required institutional subscribers to inform your users of copyright and that you undertake to make your best efforts to see that they comply:

Example statement:

'The electronic files provided for the web edition are copyrighted by The Association for Science Education and should not be passed in any form electronic, paper, fax or other to any person outside the subscribing institution.'

Please respect copyright and help us to continue to maintain fair subscription rates.

ASE reserves the right to change or amend this policy without prior notice.
