

A professional network for science educators

The Association for Science Education (ASE) is a professional community that supports teachers and technicians to develop excellent science teaching and learning. Join our network today!

11-19 membership benefits include:

- Professional Development the ASE community puts together events from TeachMeets and workshops, to our flagship Annual Conference.
- School Science Review and Education in Science* The ASE's journals offer invaluable insights into educational research, practical ideas and good practice. Recent issues have covered the new GCSEs, the use of mathematics in science and space science. Members can access the full archive online.
- Public Liability Insurance ASE membership covers you in the classroom or prep room, for practicals and school trips up to £10m.
- And lots more! Members have the opportunity to get involved with local events, national committees or sharing your views. You will also receive discounts in the ASE bookshop which has a range of highly recommended titles for science educators.
- Trainee Teacher Special Offer Receive one free CPD Day at ASE Annual Conference and may purchase the ASE Guide to Secondary Science Education for only £17.00.
