

Sulphuric acid burns

Should concentrated sulphuric acid ever be splashed on the skin, the acid should be wiped off at once with the nearest dry cloth, before washing with a large amount of cool running water. This treatment does not apply to other corrosive liquids which should be washed off with large amounts of water at once. Eye protection is essential whenever sulphuric is used.