PRIMARY SCIENCE

Primary Science is the primary journal of the ASE and is published three times a year. The ideas and opinions expressed in this journal are not necessarily those of the ASE.

Writing for Primary Science

Primary Science publishes articles on all aspects of primary science education, including early years, and we welcome articles that:

- support effective classroom practice in teaching, learning and assessing science;
- give practical classroom ideas;
- interpret (rather than simply present) research;
- address issues relating to primary science education;
- comment on controversial articles, issues and debates;
- challenge teachers' thinking about important changes.

Short contributions are very welcome, including notices, letters and short responses to other articles. It may help you if you read one or two articles in Primary Science before beginning your own.

The Editor is very happy to advise and support new authors.

As GSSfS Director, Professor Lynne Bianchi, would like to acknowledge the dedication and commitment from everyone in the GSSfS community who has offered support in any way. Particular note to all supporters, advocates and funders, and the current campaign team that includes Grace Marson, Frances Hunt, Nicola Fletcher, Jo Montgomery, Kate Sutton, Liya Broadbent, Kate Goodier, David Xu and Eleanor Evans.

GSSfS is delighted to have our impact recognised through:

- The Royal Society of Chemistry's Team Prize for Excellence in Primary Education Winner 2024
- Making a Difference Award for Social Responsibility 2018, 2017
- Chemical Industries North West Sustainability Award 2018
- National Chemical Industries Association Reputation Award 2018

Health & Safety

Reasonable care has been taken to ensure that articles in this journal do not suggest practices that might be dangerous, and safety warnings are given where appropriate. However, the ASE has not tested the activities suggested and can therefore give no guarantee of safety. For further advice on health and safety matters in primary science education see Be safe! Health and safety in school science and technology for teachers of 3- to 12-year-olds (4th edition, ASE, 2011).
